

Jennifer Newland

Additional Information

The Mid-Atlantic Highlands Action Program, developed by the Canaan Valley Institute seeks to revitalize the region environmentally and economically through the use of sound science. The program seeks to actively involve local communities and businesses; local, state and federal agencies; academic institutions; and private industry to meet the needs of local residents.

December 3, 2003. Speaker at the Great Valley Water-Resources Science Forum, Shenandoah University, Winchester Virginia.

Presenter for Cacapon Institute's Watershed Stewardship Fairs which are designed to engage Appalachian students with local watershed conservation issues and raise awareness of the field of conservation as a career path.

Recent articles related to the Canaan Valley Institute:

October 25, 2005 Dominion Post: CVI and WVU's Environmental Research Center sponsor conference on "Revitalizing Communities through Integrated Restoration", Morgantown, WV.

April 18, 2005 The Record Delta Buckhannon River Watershed Association (BRWA) receives a grant for stream restoration, jointly funded by BRWA, CVI, Office of Surface Mining, and two DEP divisions.

Recent news and updates at CVI